1	These were amazing and very helpful. I just wish the material had been released BEFORE the lectures that way I could have come prepared with questions.	Apr 20, 2011 7:07 AM
2	They should have been more streamlined and thoroughly rehearsed.	Apr 14, 2011 5:50 PM
3	Overall the talks I attenden were very good, but a few presenters might need working on their presentation skills.	Apr 14, 2011 1:20 AM
4	About the right length to give both the overview and a little depth.	Apr 11, 2011 3:42 PM
5	These were typically very well done	Apr 6, 2011 4:56 PM
6	Probably the best of ECon11	Apr 6, 2011 1:26 PM
7	Extended talks were generally more interesting, and were generally using the full time slot appropriately, but some of them could have lasted longer to dive into more technical or conceptual details.	Apr 6, 2011 11:46 AM
8	didn't attend	Apr 6, 2011 4:07 AM
9	A better length than the 20-minutes, in my opinion.	Apr 5, 2011 3:41 PM
10	I don't remember seeing any of these.	Apr 5, 2011 8:38 AM
11	Many issues with connectivity led to demo problems in a least two that I was at.	Apr 5, 2011 7:14 AM
12	best suited to technical feedback or presentations	Apr 5, 2011 4:48 AM
13	I attended some where the speaker wasn't that great. In those cases 40 min is quite long	Apr 5, 2011 12:51 AM

14	40 minutes is a much better format.	Apr 4, 2011 5:16 PM
15	Some were good but I still found the talks didn't deliver the message the working tutorials provided.	Apr 4, 2011 4:46 PM
16	The right format.	Apr 4, 2011 3:24 PM
17	One of the 40 minute talks I attended had the presenter doing a live coding session on stage. Personally, I don't need to see these kinds of sessions. If the presenter would tell how the technology is arranged and show how it is used, I will figure out how to develop with it myself. I don't want to see code on screen, I want to see ideas and use cases.	Apr 4, 2011 3:22 PM
18	-More context again maybe could be used here...same as better and more concentrated material etc... Same general very good impression and wouldn't be fare to ask for more.	Apr 4, 2011 2:39 PM
19	I liked the length of these talks and the content.	Apr 2, 2011 10:32 AM
20	Same here - some really good talks, some not so good.	Apr 1, 2011 6:44 AM
21	I don't think I attended too many 40 minute talks but those that I did were great	Apr 1, 2011 5:53 AM
22	There was very few extended talks this year... which I think is good.	Apr 1, 2011 1:47 AM
23	I'm not sure I attended any this year :-(Mar 31, 2011 9:02 PM
24	Lots of information to cover, the additional time helped. If they would provide ALL the class material before hand that would have been better. That way I could have come to the lectures with questions in hand.	Mar 31, 2011 6:36 PM
25	This seems to be the perfect length for talks at EclipseCon. Gives enough time for overview slides and then a healthy demo. 50 minutes was actually too long.	Mar 31, 2011 3:55 PM
26	The extended talks I did attend were just the right length.	Mar 30, 2011 2:09 PM
27	Just the right amount of information. Most presenters were really good.	Mar 30, 2011 1:42 PM
28	A lot more information was presented on this talks, givving more deeper understanding of the topics.	Mar 30, 2011 7:10 AM
29	I prefer the 20 mins format unless the presenter is very good and easy to understand. Don't remember attending many extended talks on the OSGi stream.	Mar 29, 2011 9:59 AM
30	This length is good for an in-depth topic and it provides for a presenter to include introductory context as well as very in-depth examples.	Mar 26, 2011 10:32 PM
31	This amount of time seems to be appropriate - not so long that you lose attention, and not so short that the presenter is challenged to convey the information.	Mar 26, 2011 6:15 PM
32	The format was better than the 20 minutes talks.	Mar 25, 2011 10:16 PM
33	- it was a bit intransparent which topics are assigned a 40min slot and which ones a 20min slot.	Mar 25, 2011 8:22 PM

Page 1, Q6. Extended talks: How would you rate the extended (40-minute) talks you attended?

34	This was a better length.	Mar 25, 2011 11:09 AM
35	Idem	Mar 25, 2011 6:26 AM
